Data
Percept: A mental impression of something perceived by the senses, viewed as the basic component in the formation of concepts; a sense datum.
«domain» Physical
«domain» Languages::ANSwER
«domain» Languages::Percepts
«domain» Languages::Schema
«domain» Languages::Forms
Analysis
Normalization
Synthesis
with Evaluation &
Realization
Theories
«domain» Conceptual
Theorems
«domain» Languages::Cognitions
Models
«domain» Mental «domain» Platonic
«domain» Languages::Mathematics
Platonic Domain of Mathematical Forms
Schema: (in the philosophy of Kant) a rule or principle that enables the understanding to apply its categories and unify experience.
Forma: Shape, form, pattern, mold or map.
Cognition: is a group of mental processes that includes attention, memory, pattern recognition, understanding meanings in language, learning, reasoning, problem solving, and / or decisions.